

Business Place (Around 2010)

Early morning, smart and keen
Bow their heads, in reverence lean
Permission sought for entrance please
To join the corporate deities

Lines of skill and brows that furrow
Headlong into hours of sorrow
Individuality is left aside
For a queue up to join the ride

Dusk draws close and thoughts divert
To other whims and dreams of sorts
Bow their heads once more to gain the chance
Of freedom to join life's merry dance